Kerry is originally from England where she completed an associate's degree in Medical Reception from Northumberland College of Arts. She worked in health care in England for several years before moving to the United States in 1999.

Living first in Texas for 11 years she ultimately moved to Maine 5 years ago. She spent 14 years at home raising her two children and she fondly recalls doing every school run, soccer game and everything in between to raise happy healthy kids. Her son James is now 22 and an RN, living and working back in Texas. While her daughter Amy is 14 and loves soccer, music and her puppy Mocha.

Kerry returned to the workforce in 2013 and has spent the last two years working part time in a Physical Therapy clinic. She is excited to be coming on board with Alliance Physical Therapy in a full time capacity and looks forward to many years with the practice. She describes meeting patients, seeing them recover and get back to an active lifestyle as the favorite things about her job.

Kerry's other passion is Spinning and she has been a spinning instructor for ten years, most recently at the Saco Sport and Fitness Club. She also enjoys riding her bike outside during the summer months, staying active, cooking and spending time with friends.
