Gianna graduated from Stockton University with a Bachelor's degree in Health Sciences and a minor in Holistic Health.

She went on to graduate from the University of New England, in 2019, where she completed her Doctorate in Physical Therapy.

Gianna's emphasis on the importance of providing evidence based treatment, along with patient centered care, aligns with Elevate PT's mission to help patients achieve their goals. She has worked with patients in both inpatient and outpatient settings treating various injuries. She enjoys working with patients to help them overcome orthopedic and vestibular challenges as well as other difficulties they encounter.

Since starting her career, Gianna has completed postgraduate studies in dry needling, manipulation, and vestibular rehabilitation.

In her spare time, she enjoys living an active lifestyle including running, hiking, and exploring the beautiful sites of Maine.
